Christmas 1995

The Wolbert Family year in review

Season's Greetings from the San Jose Wolberts!

Merry Christmas and a
Happy New Year from Bob,
Miki, Sarah & Lisa Wolbert!
We hope all is well with your family this year and that your Christmas plans are proceeding joyfully. This note describes what we did during 1995.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year wishes from the Wolbert family!

We put together this booklet of photographs showing you what we accomplished this year. I hope you enjoy it.

Everyone, Lisa, Sarah, Miki, and Bob, all enjoyed another happy, healthy year. Lisa started walking just before Christmas last year, and now is completely unlimited physically. She surprised me by climbing an extension ladder (without permission, of course) to the roof to help daddy with his antenna work last month. She has a wonderful personality and a smile for everyone.

Sarah, now 4½, is a real big girl. Her responsibilities include getting the newspaper, brewing our coffee, and keeping track of Lisa. Sarah goes to "school" three mornings per week and attends ballet/tap dance class Thursday afternoons. She is still "daddy's girl", so we will keep her a while longer. Sarah is interested in everything and is following in Edison's footsteps by overusing the word "WHY?"

Miki is keeping extremely busy dealing with the two "monsters". Not much else to report after that!

Bob is another year older. How come he's not another year wiser?

Overall, a very enjoyable year. Looks like we are in for another great one in '96. Best wishes to you from the San Jose Wolberts!

The Year 1995

January Rain, rain, rain. We recover from our excursion in Japan.

February Lisa celebrates birthday #1 on February 10th.

March Anniversary #5 already?

April Sarah participates in her first ham radio contest, and wins!

May Lisa is the star of her Gymboree class.

June We wait for summer.

July Sarah has her fourth birthday party in the park with a clown (no, a rented clown!).

August It is hot; we do nothing.

September Sarah starts back at school three days per week, plus dance class on Thursday. Miki celebrates birthday number 21 (again).

October The world revolves around Pocahontas this Halloween.

November Wow, an all-expenses-paid trip to Maui, courtesy of Grandparents Wolbert! I can get used to this. Where are you taking us next year, dad?

(Above) Hawaii in November. The family poses before we board our submarine for a cruise off the coast of Lahina, Maui. Can you believe we actually PAID for this picture?

(Right) Miki bought disposable underwater cameras before our trip. She took a number of very impressive photographs of the fish and reef life. The black-and-white printing of this booklet does not do them justice, however.

(Right) Sarah in her spring dress stands with the flowers.

(Below) Sarah's ballet class gives their graduation recital. Wow, a room with 12 pink flamingos prancing about with no control whatsoever!

(Right) Lisa is pretending to be a big girl: she wears Sarah's "Dopey" t-shirt, boots, and hat, and is trying to elbow in on Sarah's newspaper-retrieval job. She makes a further fashion statement with the shaving cream on her nose, making her "Lisa Rhino".

(Left) We celebrated Sarah's fourth birthday by eating at her favorite restaurant. Here at Chucky Cheese's, Lisa longs to become an easy rider. She now answers to the name, "Lisa Biker". Hope she gets this out of her system soon...

(Below). Sarah, as the title character, and her trusty raccoon companion, Meeko (Lisa), paddle their canoe (made from a red wagon) downstream.
